More shading of streets by planting trees. More bike/pedestrian only streets

Most of these options are just not sensible ways to get TO Key West ??

live in Tampa, going to use my car

Walking

Enforce traffic laws to make biking safer

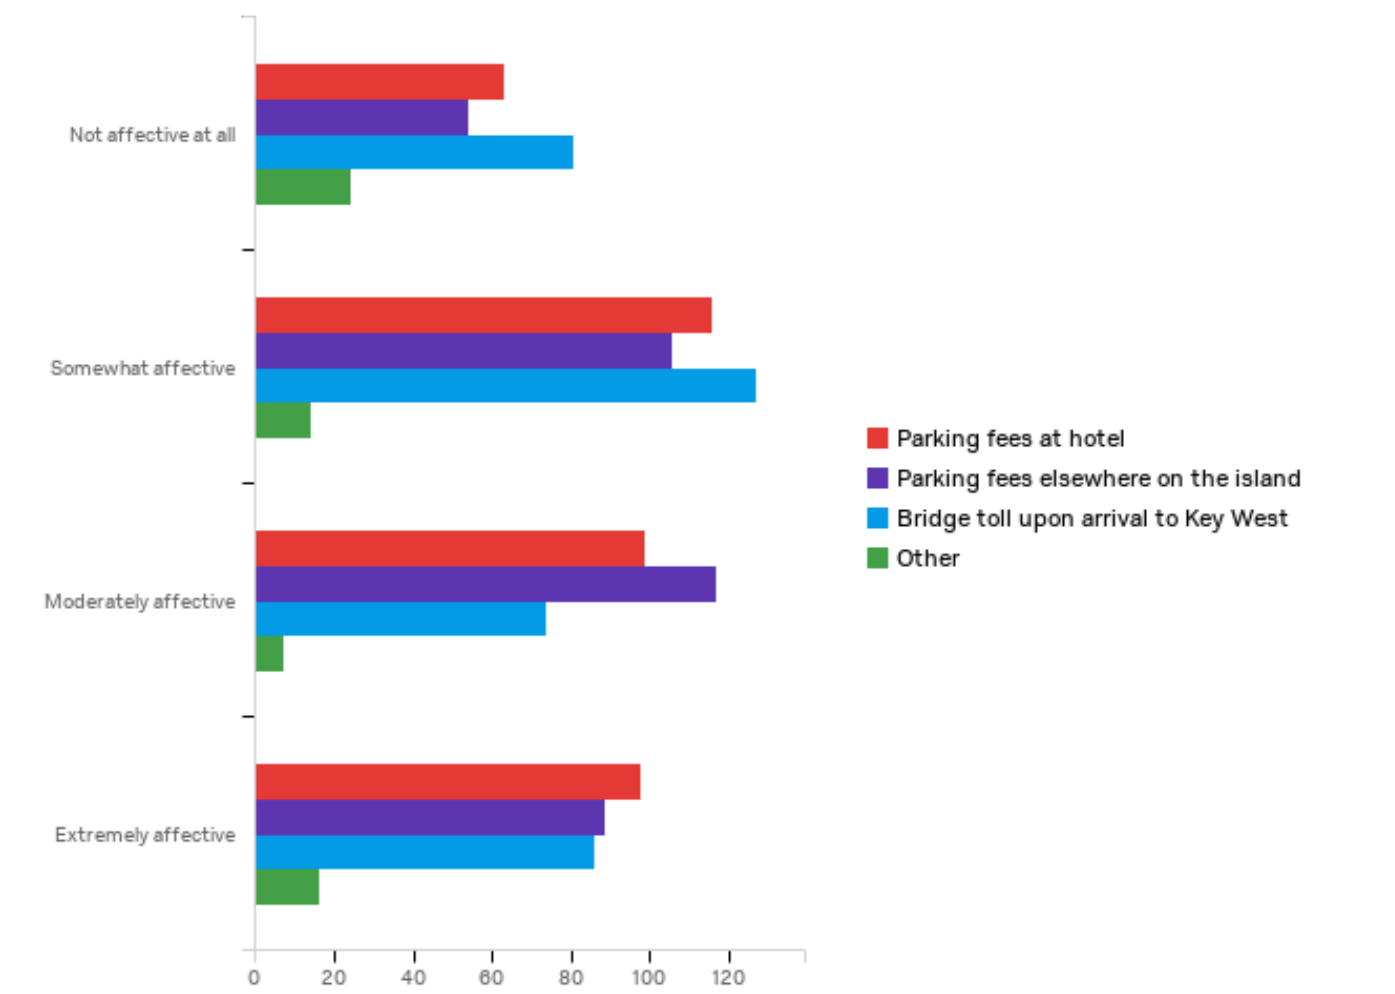

Keep making Key West more and more bike friendly!

Cheaper flights from Florida airports for residents

Na

I park and leave vehicle for duration of stay then bike to wherever we need to go.

I would stop going if it cost more.

If you charge me for something I shouldn't have to pay for, parking, I just won't go at all Discouraging Local Visitors?

One way circular system/deny cars access to main streets with attractions

They do all already exist and driving is still our best option

good way to keep me out of KW

Im not for more taxes

We used a pedal taxi / also boats could be used more

No

I live in the Florida keys but I tried to answer the visiting key west section as best as possible. I took visiting as my trip to work and back

Keeping your own car should NEVER result in you being treated poorly, nickel or dimed, or shamed in any way

We mainly drive to Key West due to the cost of flights. Otherwise, we would most likely take a shuttle from the Airport & forgo the rental car.

No

No thank you.

Duvan st should be closed top car traffic. There are too many people crowding the sidewalk

Penalties would put me off visiting Key West, not make me travel differently

I see some options you suggest would actually dissuade visitors from coming to your city. Working in the tourism industry almost all of my adult years, anything you can do to promote tourism including keeping it inexpensive as possible will help the tourism economy of which is the main source of income for the city.

Anybody who has ever been to Key West on a regular basis knows beyond a doubt that the police and the politicians are as crooked as they come. I have many hours of footage as a writer/photographer of shady deals, waterfront theft and other egregious violations by the local police. If Key West continues this policy of "looking the other way at police corruption, no matter how nice Key West is to visit, I will just go elsewhere. This blatant police corruption MUST end!

No

walkability would be improved (less noise, safety) the more you reduce vehicle numbers. Bike share would be perfect as it is flat there.

Bicycles are great to get around Key West. We never used our rental car at all, but we visited Marco Island and needed it there and for transportation to/from FLL

Looking forward to our next visit in September! We love Key West. :)

Living within 100 miles of KW a car is really the only viable way to get there. Ferry from Ft Myers is great and flying is is an excellent option, they just don't work from my location.

We would be happy to park outside Old Town Key West and shuttle into Old Town for our stay. With the exception of visiting other Keys, we do not use our car during our visits to KW. We do like to drive to Florida instead of fly, as it saves money and we can stop along the way to visit friends and family who live in Florida.

We always rent a convertible and enjoy the beauty of Fl. during the ride.

I love Key West

No

More benches for sitting while walking and exploring the island.

Go Marybeth!

No

Love the keys

Even if the hotel charges a lot for parking, which in my past experiences they have, if I drive into town, I still need to park my car. Also, the ferry is a great idea but it's still expensive. If a cheaper ferry option existed on either side of the state, I would definitely consider it.

If you had to drive your car to key west, the hotel parking should be free. But the people should not be aloud to use there vehicle.

Disclaimer: While staying on Key West, I stayed downtown and never needed to worry about using motorized transportation (never had to worry about drinking and driving or exploring). My party walked or biked everywhere, even to get to our hotel from the airport and to explore the other sides of the island. Some of my answers reflected this situation. One day someone in my party rented a car to drive to a nearby Key to visit family. That was very convenient especially for our large group.

No

Less car parking. More bike parking.

I love Key West and will always to continue to visit until I move there full time!!!

KW needs bike share!

Negative

Close Duval to vehicles and make a pedestrian walkway. Only allow tragic at night for deliveries on duval

The reason we've relocated here is to cycle and walk to get around. If I can continue to stay here I plan to sell my car.

It's lovely there, but if it becomes too inconvenient to have a car, I would just find another place to visit. Good to have options, but the car is important when you're on vacation and want to be flexible.

nope

I'd love to visit without a car but the ferries and flights from Florida cities are so much more expensive than driving. Once I'm in Key West, I park and walk or use a bike to get around.

Incentives, especially hotel and restaurant discounts, would encourage me more to not drive. KW is expensive!

It's an easy 7 hour drive. Park the car and dint need it until its time to leave.

Cheaper/faster options for travel TO KW would strongly encourage me not to bring my car.

Good luck! As a recent graduate of the program, start putting in the hours of writing sooner than later.

I think encouraging a nice biking experience would be a good thing. We trailer boat to house rental and leave vehicle there for a week. It is impossible to drive in the lower keys so biking it is. You could eliminate vehicles all together in some parts of town. I know some European cities have done that. Being a biker or walker I would welcome that.

Thank you

Key West rules!
